Words From The Field

As I conclude my work in Scotland and embark on a journey south to England, I am filled with a complex mix of emotions. While I may not be Paul, I cannot help but ponder his feelings when he bid farewell to the churches he had dedicated his life to.

I am deeply impressed by the thriving community of believers in Girvan, Scotland. Despite being a small fishing village nestled away from Scotland's major hubs, they have become an exceptional model of what a church community can achieve in the post-modern European context.

God is not dead...His church is not dead...in fact it is very much alive in SW Scotland.

His presence is palpable through the daily distribution of free meals to the community and the consistent sharing of the gospel with every generation. It is a privilege to be a part of this remarkable ministry.

I extend my sincere gratitude to all who have supported and prayed for me. Your unwavering encouragement has enabled me to fully immerse myself in the people and church work of Girvan, Scotland. I implore you to continue to pray, donate, and provide encouragement for this ministry as we transition to our next destination.

I encourage you to continue reading the newsletter, which highlights the remarkable achievements of God in Girvan.

Every Blessing,
Rev. Jon Barker

TESTIMONIES

Letter From Pastor In Girvan

It was a joy to have Jon with us to serve our community again over the summer. As always, Jon has been involved in every aspect of the life of our fellowship, from quietly serving individuals at our drop-in, to inspiring our whole congregation in worship and through his faithful proclamation of the Word. Perhaps a highlight of Jon's ministry this year, though, has been his work with our young people. Jon has made strong connections with our youth group, joining in with youth activities, taking them hiking, leading youth Bible study, and even equipping a group of young people to take our Sunday morning service, leading every aspect of the service to the immense blessing of our church.

Jon's ministry has helped people in our community to discover more of the Lord's calling, and has equipped them to walk in it. We walk closer to the Lord because of Jon's time with us, and the work he has done here carries joyful consequence in eternity.

-Rev. Adam Oellermann

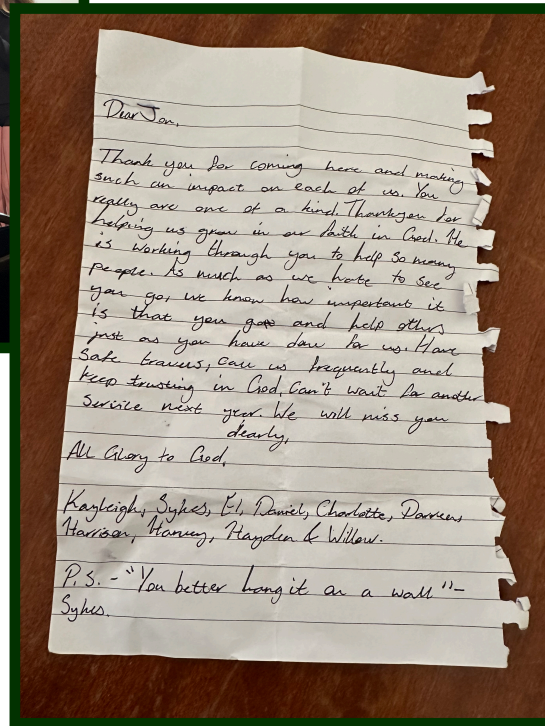

Letter From Youth Group In Girvan

Dear Jon,

"Thank you for coming here and making such an impact on each of us. You really are one of a kind! Thank you for helping us grow in our faith in God. He is working through you to help so many people. As much as we hate to see you go, we know how important it is that you go and help others just as you have done for us. Have safe travels, call us frequently, and keep trusting in God. Can't wait for another service with you next year. We will miss you dearly..."

All Glory to God,

The Story of Girvan

Over the years, I have had the privilege of leading mission groups from Georgia, Ohio, Missouri, and Florida to Girvan, Scotland. I have witnessed the church transition from its community center to its own facility and now, this month, it is relocating to an even larger space. In a continent of Europe that appears to have forsaken many of its roots, lies the United Kingdom, where four countries have seemingly agreed to collaborate for centuries, particularly in the northern country of Scotland. A country renowned for its rich heritage of doctrine and the spread of the gospel. Despite its Evangelical population hovering around 2-3%, Girvan, situated far from the major cities of Edinburgh and Glasgow, stands as a thriving church and community dedicated to the Kingdom of God. This example serves as a testament to the potential for growth and prosperity within the United Kingdom.

I'll never forget when I met Adam, Michelle, Daniel, and Charlotte Oellermann. They had taken a huge leap of faith by starting to pastor the church in Girvan. One of the things that really sticks with me from my first visit was when Michelle asked us to pray for their to be in the future ...children and youth in the church (there were none at the time). They had two kids at the time, a 5-year-old and a 3-year-old. Fast forward to this year, and you'll see pictures of their son Daniel (now almost 16) preaching alongside his friend Sykes, and four other youth leading worship. There were over 62 people in the congregation that day, and at least 5 other youth were there too. That's just incredible! Over ten years, you can see God's handiwork and all the amazing things He's done and continues to do.

Keep praying for the church in Girvan. Who knows what the next ten years will bring?
